In this course we will examine the basic concepts in the theory of knowledge -- the concepts of knowledge, rationality, evidence, reasonableness, and justification -- as well as several leading theories that purport to address the nature, sources, or scope of our knowledge.